The Manager of a Texas State Capital Syndicate Charged With the Embezzlement of $300,000.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The rumor reached this city to-day from Fort Worth, Texas, that Burton H. Campbell, the manager of the Texas state capital syndicate ranch had been arrested here charged with the embezzlement of $300,000. Inquiry at the office of the syndicate, in this city elicited a denial of the arrest of Campbell. It was learned, however, that the syndicate had become dissatisfied with Campbell's management and had disposed of him. An investigation of his accounts are now in progress, but the officers of the syndicate refuse to make any statement as to the result. Campbell lives at Wichita, Kansas.

A GOOD START.

The Citizen's Natural Gas Company Organized and Very Likely to Succeed.

The circuit court room was very comfortably filled last evening when Hon. J. B. White called the meeting to order and stated that the object of the assembly was to organize a company to pipe and supply natural gas to the citizens of Fort Wayne. He dwelt at some length on the great blessings that accrue from cheap fuel to all classes, and insisted that with gas a saving of one-half the present cost of fuel could be made, and this was significant when he estimated that $475,000 was annually expended for wood and coal in Fort Wayne.

Captain White was followed by M. V. B. Spencer, Judge A. A. Chapin, W. W Worthington, P. A. Randall, W. L. Carnahan, C. S. Bash, G. W. Seavy, J. B. Monning, and others who warmly urged the necessity and advantages of a natural gas fuel to Fort Wayne.

On motion of Mr. Monning the following articles of incorporation were unanimously adopted and approved:

The undersigned, for the purpose of forming a corporate company under the laws of the state of Indiana do hereby adopt the following articles of incorporation:

ARTICLE III.

The amount of capital stock shall be $1,000,000, divided into shares of $10 each.

ARTICLE IV.

The term of the existence of this corporation shall be fifty (50) years.

ARTICLE V.

The principal office and place of operation shall be in the city of Fort Wayne, Wayne township, Allen county, in the state of Indiana.

ARTICLE VI.

The seal of the corporation shall be a metallic disk or die, suitable for making an impression on paper with the following device, viz.: The words, "People's Gas Co., Indiana," upon the outer periphery of the face of the die, and in the center a hand holding a lighted torch.

ARTICLE VII.

No stockholder shall be assessed for any amount beyond the par value of stock owned by him.

ARTICLE VIII.

The number of directors to manage the business and prudential concerns of the corporation shall be eleven, and their names for the first year thereof are———.

ARTICLE IX.

After the first year the directors shall be elected by ballot, a majority of whom shall be residents of Allen county, Indiana.

Yesterday morning, about 6:30 o'clock Newton Moore, aged eight years, of Hartford City met with a swift and awful death near the depot on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville railroad. The little fellow had been playing around the depot all morning, and when the through freight pulled up he attempted to board it, but missing his hold he slipped beneath the wheels, which instantly ground him to pieces.

Language is weak, but "gorgeous" is about the word to use in describing the appearance which the Hendricks club will present on the occasion of President Cleveland's visit to Indianapolis. In the first place there is to be a banner, not any ordinary banner, but one of monster proportions, with a body of royal purple velvet, relieved by inscriptions of gold bullion and draperies of pure white. Looking down from the top of the staff will be a lion's head in gilt.

Alfred W. Scott, a republican member of the legislature, representing Morgan county, has presented his resignation to the governor. He has removed to Lincoln, Nebraska. The following members of the legislature have resigned since the session closed: Senators Bailey and Sellers, and Representatives Gordon, Patten and Barnes, democrats, and Scott, republican. These vacancies will have to be filled, in case the governor should call an extra session of the legislature. He was asked to-day whether there was any probability of his calling such a session. He said that he had not as yet thought it necessary. The probabilities are that there will be none until the winter of 1888.

The child so brutally abused by its step-father, John Waterside, at Smiley, near Monroeville, died Saturday from the effects of the cruel treatment it had received, for which Waterside is now in jail and his wife will be as soon as the officers can find her. The pair took especial delight in maiming the child, until finally the surgeons had to amputate one arm and limb weeks after it should have had medical aid, which was furnished by order of a township trustee, who discovered by accident the cruel treatment the child was receiving. For two weeks after the operation was performed on August 16, the mother would tie up the little cripple to a bedstead and leave it there for hours without nourishment, although the child was screaming with hunger.

He proudly lifts his head at the cheers of his companions of the war. He pricks up his ears at the rattle of a drum and tries to prance at the sound of the bugle and seems to enjoy the occasion as much as any of his two-foot d friends.

MRS. WILBUR F. STOREY, widow of the man who founded and built up the Chicago Times, says it has cost her so far $61,000 to "get a will, written by her husband's own hands, probated in Cook County." Mrs. Storey has been offered $350,000 for the Times, but promptly declined the offer because the sum was altogether under the value of the property. The lady proposes to have possession of the Times, "if there is any law left in Chicago," run it for a time herself, and then sell out.

THE revised editions of the Old and New Testaments are in light demand, the old King James version being preferred. Mr. Magee, of the New York Methodist Book establishment, said recently: "The revised version is no good as an article of merchandise, and we would not venture to order half a dozen copies at one time. The people have no confidence in it, and are not willing to adopt the mere verbal changes. There is too much capital represented in the old Bible to be supplanted."

WITHIN a radius of two miles around Brookeville, Md., are to be found a lady of 100 years and 6 months, one in her 100th, a gentleman of 96 or 97; another of 92 died a few days ago. Several are verging close to 91, and quite a number might be named ranging between 75 and 85. Moreover, not one of these that I recall is helpless or childish or house-bound. The old lady of 100 years and 6 months moves around quite actively, does considerable household work of light kind, and her faculties are clear. In Brookeville lives an old shoemaker of 87, who has been at the bench seventy-five years, who does as good quality of work as ever, can put in a full day's work and is his own gardener.

AN old Mormon romance appears to have been revived by the Globe-Democrat, as shown by a recent St. Louis dispatch. The story is to the effect that some time about the year 1842 Joseph Smith became enamored by an English maiden of a wealthy family who had espoused the Mormon faith. That was about the time Smith was said to have received a revelation sanctioning and recommending polygamy. The prophet wished to take the girl as his spiritual wife, to which she consented on condition that if she bore a son he should in the fullness of time become the head of the Mormon Church. The contract was entered into, and the son was born and educated by the mother in England to fit him for the high position for which he was destined. He is now said to be about 45 years of age, and likely to appear as a competitor for the vacant presidency. There may be some groundwork for the story, but even were the story true the Englishman would stand little chance of becoming Taylor's successor. The head of the Mormon Church is elected by the chief elders, and is not a hereditary office.

AT one of his Northfield meetings Mr. Moody, who was preaching about "Prayer," said: "Man may pray like a saint, but if he has a dollar in his pocket not acquired honestly his prayer is a sham, and he must make restitution if he expects ever to have God hear his prayer." Thereupon a merchant from Dallas, Tex., rose in the audience and told a story that emphasized this point. He had, he said, got dishonestly from men in his business some $5,500, and had built a house with the money. Then Mr. Moody happened along and preached on this subject of restitution, and the merchant was present. "I heard you," he said, pointing to Mr. Moody, "and I went out into the street conscience-stricken. I went straight home and told my wife that we must sell that house and restore the money. And we did. We held an auction, and our carpets, our laces, our furniture all left us, and with the proceeds made restitution." The man then told how he and his wife started again in life with nothing, and how he had prospered. His credit, his prosperity had never been so good.

Prepared by a combination, proportion, and process peculiar to itself Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

GEN. FISK, of New Jersey, and ex-Gov. St. John, of Kansas, are the leading candidates for the Prohibition nomination for President in 1888. Neal Dow, of Maine, who, in spite of his 84 years, is one of the most active workers in the Prohibition party, thinks that if the convention were held to-day Gen. Fisk would be the choice. He says, however, that his party is perfectly satisfied with St. John, and thoroughly proud of the vote he received in 1884.

A HALF-GROWN chicken in Richmond, Mo., got into an altercation with a grass-snake eighteen inches long. The chicken pecked away at the snake furiously for a few moments, and then gathering the head of his snakeship in his mouth essayed to swallow him whole. But the snake was not quite ready to perform the Jonah act and obstinately refused to go down. Finding he could not swallow the snake, which had tightly curled its tail around his bill, the chicken managed to throw it up, when, after pecking at it a few more times, he made a second and successful effort, and his snakeship disappeared down the chicken's throat.

J. R. DODGE, Statistician of the Department of Agriculture, in an article entitled "Products and Prices of Wheat," which was published with the Department's August crop report, says: The official record of imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the first half of the present year shows a large increase in the proportion furnished by the United States—68 per cent. against 54 per cent. in the first six months of 1886 and 1885. Counting flour as wheat the proportion is 73.5 per cent. against 60.8 in a similar period of 1886 and 60.6 in 1885. There is a great reduction in receipts from Russia, a decrease from India of 20 per cent. as compared with the first half of last year, and a decrease from Australia. The quantities of wheat imported from January to June inclusive, with value and average price expressed in the measures of this country, are as follows:

Country.	Bushels.	Dollars.	Value per bu.
Russia	2,782,608	2,847,311	$1 02
Germany	1,113,629	1,226,154	1 10
United States	32,713,276	34,870,014	1 07
Chili	1,063,011	1,101,367	1 04
India	6,725,790	6,670,429	99
Other countries	3,655,170	3,726,848	1 02
Total	48,053,484	$50,442,723	$1 05

While India is the principal competitor of the United States in the world's market, her importance as a competitor is greatly overrated. The occurrence of a "famine year" would reduce to zero her exports. So fixed are the industrial usages of the people that great enlargement of the wheat area is next to an impossibility; there has been no material increase as a result of the exportation of the surplus of the last ten years.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

Boiler Inspectors.

The wisdom of careful boiler inspection was recently demonstrated very strikingly at Chicago. The boilers of three large propellers, all belonging to one line engaged in the lake service, were tested by the Government officials, with the result that only one of the three was found in a good condition. The boiler of one gave way at 110 pounds, and that of the other at 120 pounds pressure. The former was built in 1878 of 17-32-inch iron, and the latter in 1880 of 9-16-inch steel.

Chronic Diseases

and diseases of the
EYE AND EAR
A SPECIALTY.

It is well known by all intelligent observers that it is impossible for any person, no matter how highly endowed by nature or acquirements, to become thoroughly conversant with all the divisions of the science of medicine. Nearly all who have obtained distinction in medicine have made some special department their life work, being fitted therefor by natural adaption or selection, special education and experience. The doctors having devoted several years to the special study of this class of diseases in hospitals and general practice, and having the most recent and improved instruments for finding out diseased conditions in the organs of the body, they propose to devote the whole of their time to the practice of these specialties.

They adopt the following plan, which is peculiar to hospitals and is not or never has been the practice of country doctors, viz: They carefully note the symptoms of the patient, ascertain the condition of the internal organs, examine the eye, ear and throat by the most recent and improved instruments and methods, all of which they carefully record in their register for future reference. In this way they ascertain the true nature of the disease and its cause. Knowing the disease, they know the changes it produces in the tissues, and, knowing the changes, they check them with specific remedies and place the patient on the high road to recovery. When sick people consult them, they readily tell them whether they can cure or help them or if they are beyond hope.

The examinations are in accordance with anatomical and physical science, and they will convince the most skeptical. By an examination they will convince any one of the nature and extent of their disease, amount of danger to life and chance of a perfect cure. Believing that science is truth, and "truth is mighty and will prevail" when known and knowing the disease can be cured, with positive certainty, they invite the afflicted to call and receive advice free and be cured of their diseases.

There is no subject that requires so much study and experience as the treatment and cure of chronic diseases. The astonishing success and remarkable cures performed by them are due to the long study of the constitution of man, and the cure of the disease by natural remedies. Let those given up by others call for examination. They have successfully treated the following diseases since their arrival in this state: Eye and ear diseases, chronic diarrhœa, chronic inflammation of the womb, chronic inflammation of the bladder, painful or irregular menstruation, fever sores and ulcers, incontinence of urine, tape worms, crooked limbs and enlarged joints, spinal curvatures, club foot, hip joint disease, white swelling, discharging abscesses, sterility or barrenness, nervousness and general debility, prostration and impotency, disease of the kidneys and bladder, leucorrhœa or whites, blotches and pimples, skin diseases, dyspepsia, constipation, dropsy, cancer, epileptic fits, erysipelas, gravel, goitre, gleet, gonorrœa, hydrocle, heart disease, headache, piles, hysteria, syphilis, St. Vitus dance, chronic dysentery, enlarged tonsils, fever and ague, fistula in ano, hernia or rupture, ovarian tumors, paralysis, palsy, prolapsus uteri, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, scrofula, consumption, chronic cough, female weakness, spermatorrhœa, rheumatism, liver disease, etc.

YOUNG MEN

Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with full confidence.

DR. FRUTH,

After years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary habits of youth—and secret habits blighting the most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. My method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many from the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for; on an examination of the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin or milkish hue, again changing to a dark or torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

PRIVATE DISEASES.

Blood poison, venereal taint, gleet, stricture, seminal emissions, loss of sexual power, weakness of sexual organs, want of desire in male or female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits immature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and perfectly cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.

We have a special department thoroughly organized and devoted exclusively to the treatment of the diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialist, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of the full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our methods are entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS

Positively cured by a new and never-failing method.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.

Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine, which will receive careful chemical and microscopical examination. Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

REMARKABLE CURES

Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Curable cases garanteed.

The First Mention of Ice Cream.

The first mention of ice cream that is found in history is in the account of the festivities following Washington's first inauguration as President, in the city of New York, in 1789. Among the ices used on that occasion was ice cream, which is said to have been prepared, or at least suggested, by Dolly Adams, then the brightest star in social and diplomatic circles. The new confection made quite a sensation at the time, and probably helped to increase Dolly Adams' popularity.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The nail was, of course, made by hand, as there were no nail machines in 1698.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription cught to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians.

By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Rhinebeck, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

THE ELECTION OF THE FUTURE.

A Conversation of the Days of Female Suffrage—When They Come.

When the right of suffrage is finally given to women and they both vote and hold office, we may expect to hear candidates for office sized up in the following scathing manner by women at the polls:

"Who are you going to vote for, Bessie?"

"Oh, I really don't know. But don't you think it's just perfectly lovely for us to have the right to vote at all?"

"Oh, it's too awfully jolly for anything. But, do you know I was just worried to death for fear Madam Fittem wouldn't have my dress done in time for election day."

"But she did, I see; and it's just lovely. I was worried awfully over my election bonnet, but it came at the last moment or I wouldn't have come near the polls. Are you going to vote for Mamie Berkeley for City Treasurer?"

"No, I'm not; we've been 'out' for a long time, and I think she's just horrid."

"I think so too; she dresses away beyond her means, and there'd be no living in the same town with her if she was City Treasurer. What do you think of Mrs. St. John for Mayor?"

"Oh, I think she'd be lovely. She has such a queenly manner and dresses in such perfect taste; but most of the girls are voting for Howard Percy for Mayor; he's so handsome, you know."

"Oh, yes; but then he's so conceited, and such a dreadful flirt. He's engaged to half the girls in town just to secure their votes."

"The mean, horrid thing!"

"What do you think of Mrs. Ranter for Congress?"

"I think she'd better stay at home and look after her children. There's six or seven of them running around here now peddling out her tickets. Do tell me, Janie, are my frizzes all coming out?"

"No, they look nicely. How are mine?"

"Lovely! Your hair does frizz so beautifully. Look at Mr. Meek electioneering for his wife for Representative. They say if she's elected she's going to leave her six-weeks'-old baby at home with him while she goes to the capital for the legislative session."

"Think of it! And won't she dress, though. I'd vote for Hugh Mandeville, but they say he's engaged to Helen Smythe, and I can't endure her. She's around here some place trying to get the other girls to vote for Hugh."

"I call that cheeky But I sha'n't vote for him. Margie Montague is my candidate. She's going to invite me to Washington if she's elected."

"How lovely that will be! I've half a mind to vote for Margie myself. Do you know, Belle Fielding and Libbie Lavelle have had an awful quarrel over the office of City Councilman?"

"No! How perfectly dreadful!"

"Isn't it? Libbie accused Belle of buying up votes with French bon-bons and boxes of kid gloves; and Belle told right out before everybody that eight of Libbie's upper teeth were false and that her lovely waves are not her own hair."

"How mean of Belle! If I was Libbie I'd never forgive her. I intended voting for Belle, but I sha'n't now. I cannot conscientiously vote for a girl who could deliberately give another girl away in that shameful manner. It's a mercy she didn't know all I know about Libbie, or the poor girl might have been mortified clear out of the campaign. I shall scratch Belle."

"I've scratched about everybody on my ticket."

"So have I. Most of the girls running for office are so horrid."

"So they are."

Tobacco in the White House.

Mr. Cleveland is developing a love for cigars which has already caught the attention of the newspaper paragrapher. There is something about life in the White House and in Washington which seems to stimulate the cacoetheas fumandi, although Mr. Hayes was not affected by it. But he was proof against this and other "wanities." The taste grows cultured, too, in the White House atmosphere, and Mr. Cleveland is said to have discarded the "two for a quarter" variety for a much costlier article. Gen. Grant was able to gratify his love for the weed at little or no tax upon his $50,000 a year. So many of his friends were desirous of making him presents and his fondness for cigars was so universally known that the express companies were kept busy delivering him boxes of the choicest brands. I know of one gift to him of a box of 100 which cost the donor $145—so, at least, the latter told me. I thought this was about the highest price ever paid for such goods, but the gentleman assured me that he had himself smoked cigars which had cost $1.75 apiece. He had done so accidently, however, for it was far from his disposition to be so extravagant. The gift to Gen. Grant came about in this way: My informant, a merchant of means, was about to visit the General in camp during the closing days of the war and thought a box of fine cigars would be appreciated as a delicate courtesy. Accordingly, he called upon a cigar dealer near his residence and requested him to get the best box of cigars within reach. It was a time when gold was over 200, and the custom duties were very heavy. The package was duly delivered to him in a day or two and with it a bill for $145. Astonished at the price he went to the cigar dealer, who said that the bill was correct.—Brooklyn Citizen.

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

DUEL OF THE STORKS.

Bitter Combat Between Male Birds, Which Disposed of an Ancient Superstition.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch.]

The popular superstition, according to which storks, when deprived of their mates, are supposed to spend the remainder of their lives in solitary grief, mourning over the loss of their departed one, has just received a rude shock. According to the following account, of which the truth is vouched for, it would appear that the female stork is just as liable to err from the paths of virtue as the remainder of her sex. For several years past a couple of storks had been in the habit of spending the summer months in a comfortable nest, which they had laboriously constructed on the gable end of a barn which formed a part of a farm not far from Buda Pesth. They used to arrive in the early spring, hatch the regular number of eggs, and after spending the hot days of July and August in educating their young would all fly off to warmer climes on the approach of winter. Last summer they arrived as usual, and after a time began to devote all their energies to hatching the eggs. When the hen bird was not setting her husband would gravely take her place, carefully spreading himself in such a manner as to cover all the unborn olive branches of the family. One day, however, just about at the time when the little ones were about to make their entry into the world, a great noise was heard on the roof of the barn. Looking upward the farmer perceived that a new male stork of unusual size and beauty had made his arrival and was engaged in a warm discussion with the couple established in the nest. Clapper, clapper, clapper went the long bills, feathers began to be ruffled, and at length, aroused by some terribly insulting expression on the part of the stranger, the male bird issued forth from his nest and began a pitched battle in defense of his honor and home. The duel lasted for a long time, and the battle waxed fast and furious. Curiously enough, the hen bird did not attempt to take the slightest part in the combat. She showed some evidences of excitement, occasionally stood up in her nest and made some remarks with her bill and wings in stork language, and then sat down again upon her eggs. When the sun went down the strange stork flew away, both of the combatants covered with blood. The hen bird received her lord and master with all the signs of a most exaggerated affection, and appeared to congratulate him on his gallant conduct. The next morning, however, the stranger reappeared and recommenced the battle of the day before. Thoroughly exasperated against the intruder, the farmer got out his gun, and, forgetful of the superstition which exists against killing a stork, fired at the strange bird. Sad to relate, instead of killing the latter, the husband stork fell lifeless to the ground. Curiously enough, the sound of the gun did not appear to create the least impression on the remaining birds. The hen stork did not make the slightest attempt to continue the trouble or to take to flight. She remained quietly setting in her nest, the stranger standing at some distance off. Gradually he began to edge along the ridge of the roof toward the nest, and when he got quite close thereto the hen likewise arose and stood upright. For more than an hour they remained standing next to one another engaged in the most eager discussion. At length they seemed to have come to an understanding. After a moment's pause they suddenly hopped into the nest, and working like very furies they united their efforts in throwing the whole of the eggs out of it on to the ground below. As soon as they had completed this work of destruction they both appeared to be slightly overcome, and for about ten minutes remained standing perfectly still each on one leg, their bills resting on each other's shoulders. At length they simultaneously flew up into the air, and after circling round a few times disappeared out of sight. It may be only a coincidence, but within a few weeks of the above flight not only the barn, but a large portion of the farm, was destroyed by fire, entailing a heavy loss on the proprietor.

He Wasn't Qualified.

"Did you hire that young man who applied for your school?" was asked of a Dakota school district officer.

"Well, I should rather say we didn't."

"Why not?"

"His edication didn't come up to the scratch."

"What in?"

"Gram'er."

"How did you find it out?"

"Why he got in my wagon to ride from the field to the house an' said I, 'Di ye ever drive much?' 'Of late years, says he, 'I have driven very little. 'Drove very little, ye mean,' says I. 'I beg yer pardon,' says he, 'but I mean driven.' 'Drove is right,' says I. 'No, sir,' says he, 'driven is the most grammaticalest.' 'Oh, well, mebby ye know,' says I, sorter sarcastic. 'I reckon I do,' says he, 'I'm jes' comin' out here to learn you folks something.' 'Do ye see that road?' says I. 'I does,' says he. 'Well,' says I, 'it goes to town an' you want'o git right out an' humpen yerself down it mighty fasten 'cause I'm goin' to begin kicken ye in about a minute by the clock!' He saw I knowed more 'bout gram'er than he did an' he got out o' that wagon and scooted down the road. You bet we're goin' to have a teacher that undertands gram'r or none at all."—Dakota Bell.

THE great secret of avoiding disappointment is not to expect too much. Despair follows immoderate hope, as things fall hardest to the ground that have been nearest the sky.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

The water works trustees have awarded to the Holly manufacturing company the contract to place a $27,650 pumping engine in the water works house. M. J. W. Pearse found his horse and buckboad, the mysterious disappearance of which was noted yesterday. It seems that the Pearse horse, when driven by a drunken employe, ran into a horse and buggy belonging to a farmer south of the city. The country vehicle was broken up so the farmer coolly drove home in Mr. Pearse's rig and returned later in the day to find the owner.

A GOOD START.

The Citizen's Natural Gas Company Organized and Very Likely to Succeed.

The circuit court room was very comfortably filled last evening when Hon. J. B. White called the meeting to order and stated that the object of the assembly was to organize a company to pipe and supply natural gas to the citizens of Fort Wayne. He dwelt at some length on the great blessings that accrue from cheap fuel to all classes, and insisted that with gas a saving of one-half the present cost of fuel could be made, and this was significant when he estimated that $475,000 was annually expended for wood and coal in Fort Wayne.

Captain White was followed by M. V. B. Spencer, Judge A. A. Chapin, W. W. Worthington, P. A. Randall, W. L. Carnahan, C. S. Bash, O. W. Beavy, J. B. Mossing, and others who warmly urged the necessity and advantages of a natural gas fuel to Fort Wayne.

On motion of Mr. Mossing the following articles of incorporation were unanimously adopted and approved:

The undersigned, for the purpose of forming a corporate company under the laws of the state of Indiana do hereby adopt the following articles of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of the corporation shall be "The Peoples' Gas Company."

ARTICLE II.

The object of the corporation is to furnish the city of Fort Wayne, and neighboring towns and cities, and all companies, corporations and persons desiring to use the same, with gas for heating and illuminating purposes and for that object to acquire by purchase or lease, or both, as may be found most practicable, gas wells and real estate in Allen and other counties in this and adjoining states, for sinking gas wells, and for right of way for laying pipe, and such other real estate as may be necessary to carry on the business; also, for procuring, by purchase or manufacture, or both, such machinery, appliances and materials as may be required to effect the above object.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of capital stock shall be $1,600,000, divided into shares of $10 each.

ARTICLE IV.

The term of the existence of this corporation shall be fifty (50) years.

ARTICLE V.

The principal office and place of operation shall be in the city of Fort Wayne, Wayne township, Allen county, in the state of Indiana.

ARTICLE VI.

The seal of the corporation shall be a metallic disk or die, suitable for making an impression on paper with the following device, viz.: The words, "Peoples Gas Co., Indiana," upon the outer periphery of the face of the die, and in the center a hand holding a lighted torch.

ARTICLE VII.

No stockholder shall be assessed for any amount beyond the par value of stock owned by him.

ARTICLE VIII.

The number of directors to manage the business and prudential concerns of the corporation shall be eleven, and their names for the first year thereof are——

ARTICLE IX.

After the first year the directors shall be elected by ballot, a majority of whom shall be residents of Allen county, Indiana.

ARTICLE X.

The names of the stockholders, the residence of each stockholder and the amount and number of shares of stock subscribed are——

The following gentlemen at once stepped up to the secretary's desk and signed the articles of organization, subscribing towards the company the sums opposite their names:

Language is weak, but "gorgeous" is about the word to use in describing the appearance which the Hendricks club will present on the occasion of President Cleveland's visit to Indianapolis. Alfred W. Scott, a republican member of the legislature, representing Morgan county, has presented his resignation to the governor. He has removed to Lincoln, Nebraska. The following members of the legislature have resigned since the session closed: Senators Bailey and Sellers, and Representatives Gordon, Patten and Barnes, democrats, and Scott, republican. These vacancies will have to be filled, in case the governor should call an extra session of the legislature. He was asked to-day whether there was any probability of his calling such a session. He said that he had not as yet thought it necessary. The probabilities are that there will be none until the winter of 1888.

The child so brutally abused by its step-father, John Waterside, at Shelley, near Monroeville, died Saturday from the effects of the cruel treatment it had received, for which Waterside is now in jail and his wife will be as soon as the officers can find her. The pair took as special delight in maiming the child, until finally the surgeons had to amputate one arm and limb weeks after it should have had medical aid, which was furnished by order of a township trustee, who discovered by accident the cruel treatment the child was receiving. For two weeks after the operation was performed on August 16, the mother would tie up the little cripple to a bed-tead and leave it there for hours without nourishment, although the child was screaming with hunger.

Mr. W. P. Cooper, city editor of the Gazette, and Miss Nellie Brown, his cousin, were married in the parlors of the Palmer house, Chicago, this morning, at 9 o'clock. THE SENTINEL announced the wedding a little prematurely but twelve hours in advance of the other city papers, and some of them were green enough to say the wedding did not occur. THE SENTINEL obtains its information from the relatives of the high contracting parties, who are now resigned to the union, although at first they opposed it.

The aggregate loss is $60,000, and the insurance $22,000.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 30.—A special from Bevanna, Ohio, says that fire destroyed a number of residence houses b sides a large mill known as the Boyd manufacturing company. The town is almost destroyed, and the loss is $100,000. The insurance is light.

AROUND THE CITY.

The News of the Day as Gathered from the Railroad and Manufacturing Centers of the City.

Jacob Haas, of the Base moulding rooms, is off duty for a week.

The Pennington company added several new men to their working force yesterday.

Harry Hayes, a machinist in the Base foundry, is visiting his parents at Richmond, Ind.

Michael Vizard, a machinist at Ionia, Mich., is in the city, called here by the death of his mother.

Charles Beavy has taken charge of the new boring machine in the Base machine shops.

The new building of the Beerhoff Brewing Company is rapidly approaching completion.

Theodore Wichman, of the Base works, is kept at home with a case of intermittent fever.

John Vizard, formerly in the employ of the Pittsburg shops in this city, but now working at Chicago, came home last night to attend the funeral of his mother.

Some of the employes at the Base works form clubs for the purpose of taking tickets in the Louisiana lottery. This is wicked. The boys should not try fickle fortune.

August Skowretski, a helper in the Base works, is the proud father of a bouncing boy and his foreman Robert Cran, is allowing him to do pretty much as he pleases to-day.

Jos Jordan, of the Base works, has obtained a leave of absence for a week, and when he returns from the country he will be a married man and receive the congratulations of the boys.

Wm. Rogers, the assistant foreman of the Pittsburg boiler shop, was at the Base works this morning on business for his company. The Pittsburg has some of its castings done at the Base works.

The two young unmarried machinists, who where cut serenading their girls last night, may have made very sweet music, but it was not appreciated as they could not succeed in getting a light in the window.

Frank W. Dunham and William Smith, the foreman in the Olds works, were at Huntington on Sunday and Smith tells some wonderful tales about the rating capacity of Dunham, but our reporter has his own opinion about the matter and does not believe that Smith would get left on such occasions.

Daily Sentinel

TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1887.

KATKOFF, the great Russian editor, whose death occurred a few weeks ago, was a warm admirer of America. He once said to a native of this country: "If you ever do Katkoff the honor to think of him again, remember him as a real Russian who believes that Russia was made for the Russians, and as a friend of your country who believes that America was made for the Americans."

MR. FRANCIS BRANLEY, of Cleveland, owns a horse which served through the entire War of the Rebellion. He has been retired from active service, but occasionally he goes to a soldiers' reunion. He proudly lifts his head at the cheers of his companions of the war. He pricks up his ears at the rattle of a drum and tries to prance at the sound of the bugle and seems to enjoy the occasion as much as any of his two-footed friends.

MRS. WILBUR F. STOREY, widow of the man who founded and built up the Chicago Times, says it has cost her so far $40,000 to "get a will, written by her husband's own hands, probated in Cook County." Mrs. Storey has been offered $850,000 for the Times, but promptly declined the offer because the sum was altogether under the value of the property. The lady proposes to have possession of the Times, "if there is any law left in Chicago," run it for a time herself, and then sell out.

THE revised editions of the Old and New Testaments are in light demand, the old King James version being preferred. Mr. Magee, of the New York Methodist Book establishment, said recently: "The revised version is no good as an article of merchandise, and we would not venture to order half a dozen copies at one time. The people have no confidence in it, and are not willing to adopt the mere verbal changes. There is too much capital represented in the old Bible to be supplanted."

WITHIN a radius of two miles around Brookeville, Md., are to be found a lady of 100 years and 6 months, one in her 100th, a gentleman of 96 or 97; another of 92 died a few days ago. Several are verging close to 91, and quite a number might be named ranging between 75 and 85. Moreover, not one of these that I recall is helpless or childish or house-bound. The old lady of 100 years and 6 months moves around quite actively, does considerable household work of light kind, and her faculties are clear. In Brookeville lives an old shoemaker of 87, who has been at the bench seventy-five years, who does as good quality of work as ever, can put in a full day's work and is his own gardener.

AN old Mormon romance appears to have been revived by the Globe-Democrat, as shown by a recent St. Louis dispatch. The story is to the effect that some time about the year 1842 Joseph Smith became enamored by an English maiden of a wealthy family who had espoused the Mormon faith. That was about the time Smith was said to have received a revelation sanctioning and recommending polygamy. The prophet wished to take the girl as his spiritual wife, to which she consented on condition that if she bore a son he should in the fullness of time become the head of the Mormon Church. The contract was entered into, and the son was born and educated by the mother in England to fit him for the high position for which he was destined. He is now said to be about 45 years of age, and likely to appear as a competitor for the vacant presidency. [illegible] may be some groundwork for the story, but even were the story true the [illegible] would stand little chance [illegible] Taylor's successor. The [illegible] of the Mormon Church is elected [illegible] elders, as it is not a hereditary [illegible].

AT one of his Northfield meetings Mr. Moody, who was preaching about "Prayer," said: "Man may pray like a saint, but if he has a dollar in his pocket not acquired honestly his prayer is a sham, and he must make restitution if he expects ever to have God hear his prayer." Thereupon a merchant from Dallas, Tex., rose in the audience and told a story that emphasized this point. He had, he said, got dishonestly from men in his business [illegible], and had built a house with the money. Then Mr. Moody happened along and preached on this subject of restitution, and the merchant was present. "I heard you," he said, pointing to Mr. Moody, "and I went out into the street conscience-stricken. I went straight home and told my wife that we must sell that house and restore the money. And we did. We had an auction, and our carpets, our laces, our furniture all left us, and with the proceeds made restitution." The man then told how he and his wife started again in life with nothing, and how he had prospered. His credit, his prosperity had never been so good.

GEN. FISK, of New Jersey, and ex-Gov. St. John, of Kansas, are the leading candidates for the Prohibition nomination for President in 1888. Neal Dow, of Maine, who, in spite of his 84 years, is one of the most active workers in the Prohibition party, thinks that if the convention were held to-day Gen. Fisk would be the choice. He says, however, that his party is perfectly satisfied with St. John, and thoroughly proud of the vote he received in 1884.

A HALF-GROWN chicken in Richmond, Mo., got into an altercation with a grass-snake eighteen inches long. The chicken pecked away at the snake furiously for a few moments, and then gathering the head of his snakeship in his mouth essayed to swallow him whole. But the snake was not quite ready to perform the Jonah act and obstinately refused to go down. Finding he could not swallow the snake, which had tightly curled its tail around his bill, the chicken managed to throw it up, when, after pecking at it a few more times, he made a second and successful effort and his snakeship disappeared down the chicken's throat.

J. R. DODGE, Statistician of the Department of Agriculture, in an article entitled "Products and Prices of Wheat," which was published with the Department's August crop report, says: The official record of imports of wheat into the United Kingdom for the first half of the present year shows a large increase in the proportion furnished by the United States—68 per cent. against 54 per cent. in the first six months of 1886 and 1885. Counting flour as wheat the proportion is 73.5 per cent. against 60.8 in a similar period of 1886 and 60.6 in 1885. There is a great reduction in receipts from Russia, a decrease from India of 20 per cent. as compared with the first half of last year, and a decrease from Australia. The quantities of wheat imported from January to June inclusive, with value and average price expressed in the measures of this country, are as follows:

Country.	Bushels.	Dollars.	Value per bu.
Russia	2,782,808	2,947,311	$1 06
Germany	1,113,858	1,236,134	1 11
United States	32,713,276	34,970,014	1 07
Chili	1,083,021	1,141,867	1 04
India	6,725,760	6,070,459	90
Other countries	1,846,179	3,740,868	1 02
Total	48,053,494	$50,441,725	$1 05

While India is the principal competitor of the United States in the world's market, her importance as a competitor is greatly overrated. The occurrence of a "famine year" would reduce to zero her exports. So fixed are the industrial usages of the people that great enlargement of the wheat area is next to an impossibility; there has been no material increase as a result of the exportation of the surplus of the last ten years.

It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

Boiler Inspectors.

The wisdom of careful boiler inspection was recently demonstrated very strikingly at Chicago. The boilers of three large propellers, all belonging to one line engaged in the lake service, were tested by the Government officials, with the result that only one of the three was found in a good condition. The boiler of one gave way at 110 pounds, and that of the other at 120 pounds pressure. The former was built in 1878 of 17-32-inch iron, and the latter in 1880 of 9-16-inch steel.

Chronic Diseases
and diseases of the
EYE AND EAR
A SPECIALTY.

It is well known to all intelligent observers that it is impossible for any person, no matter how highly endowed by nature or acquirements, to become thoroughly conversant with all the divisions of the science of medicine. Nearly all who have obtained distinction in medicine have made some special department their life work, being fitted therefor by nature, adaptation or selection, special education and experience. The doctors having devoted several years to the special study of this class of diseases in hospitals and private practice, and having the most recent and improved instruments for finding out diseased conditions in the organs of the body, they propose to devote the whole of their time to the practice of these specialties. [illegible]

[illegible] of the womb, chronic inflammation of the bladder, painful or irregular menstruation, fever sores and ulcers, incontinence of urine, tape worms, crooked limbs and enlarged joints, spinal curvatures, club foot, hip joint disease, white swelling, discharging abscesses, sterility or barrenness, nervousness and general debility, prostration and impotency, disease of the kidneys and bladder, leucorrhoea or whites, blotches and pimples, skin diseases, dyspepsia, constipation, dropsy, cancer, epilepsy, [illegible], catarrh, goitre, [illegible], sore eyes, hydrocele, heart disease, headache, piles, hysteria, syphilis, St. Vitus dance, chronic dysentery, enlarged tonsils, fever and ague, fistula in ano, hernia or rupture, [illegible], paralysis, palsy, [illegible], bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, scrofula, consumption, chronic cough, female weakness, spermatorrhoea, rheumatism, liver disease, etc.

YOUNG MEN.

Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with full confidence.

DR. FRUTH,

After years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary habits of youth—and secret habits, blighting the most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. [illegible] A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. My method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many from the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for; on an examination of the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin or milkish hue, again changing to a dark or torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

PRIVATE DISEASES.

Blood poison, venereal taint, gleet, stricture, seminal emissions, loss of sexual power, weakness of sexual organs, want of desire in male or female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and perfectly cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.

We have a special department thoroughly organized and devoted exclusively to the treatment of the diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialist, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of the full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our methods are entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS

Positively cured by a new and never-failing method.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.

Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine, which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination. Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately.

REMARKABLE CURES

Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Curable cases guaranteed.

There is no subject that requires so much study and experience as the treatment and cure of chronic diseases. The astonishing success and remarkable cures performed by them are due to the long study of the constitution of man and the cure of the disease by natural remedies. [illegible] those given up by others call for examination. They have successfully treated the following diseases since their arrival in this state: Eye and ear diseases, chronic diarrhoea, chronic inflammation

The First Mention of Ice Cream.

The first mention of ice cream that is found in history is in the account of the festivities following Washington's first inauguration as President, in the city of New York, in 1789. Among the ices used on that occasion was ice cream, which is said to have been prepared, or at least suggested, by Dolly Adams, then the brightest star in social and diplomatic circles. The new confection made quite a sensation at the time, and probably helped to increase Dolly Adams' popularity.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopœa as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not relieved in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. ALWAYS ASK FOR DR. PIERCE'S PELLETS, OR LITTLE SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Being entirely vegetable, they operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation. Put up in glass vials, hermetically sealed. Always fresh and reliable. As a laxative, alterative, or purgative, these little Pellets give the most perfect satisfaction.

SICK HEADACHE, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels, are promptly relieved and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may truthfully be said that their action upon the system is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Sold by druggists, 25 cents a vial. Manufactured at the Chemical Laboratory of WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 REWARD is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. By its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere; 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2902 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

THE ELECTION OF THE FUTURE.

A Conversation of the Days of Female Suffrage When They Come.

When the right of suffrage is finally given to women and they both vote and hold office, we may expect to hear candidates for office sized up in the following scathing manner by women at the polls:

"Who are you going to vote for, Bessie?"

"Oh, I really don't know. But don't you think it's just perfectly lovely for us to have the right to vote at all?"

"Oh, it's too awfully jolly for anything. But, do you know I was just worried to death for fear Madam Fittem wouldn't have my dress done in time for election day."

"But she did, I see; and it's just lovely. I was worried awfully over my election bonnet, but it came at the last moment or I wouldn't have come near the polls. Are you going to vote for Mamie Berkeley for City Treasurer?"

"No, I'm not; we've been 'out' for a long time, and I think she's just horrid."

"I think so too; she dresses away beyond her means, and there'd be no living in the same town with her if she was City Treasurer. What do you think of Mrs. St. John for Mayor?"

"Oh, I think she'd be lovely. She has such a queenly manner and dresses in such perfect taste; but most of the girls are voting for Howard Percy for Mayor, he's so handsome, you know."

"Oh, yes; but then he's so conceited, and such a dreadful flirt. He's engaged to half the girls in town just to secure their votes."

"The mean, horrid thing!"

"What do you think of Mrs. Ranter for Congress?"

"I think she'd better stay at home and look after her children. There's six or seven of them running around here now peddling out her tickets. Do tell me, Janie, are my frizzes all coming out?"

"No, they look nicely. How are mine?"

"Lovely! Your hair does frizz so beautifully. Look at Mr. Meek electioneering for his wife for Representative. They say if she's elected she's going to leave her six-weeks'-old baby at home with him while she goes to the capital for the legislative session."

"Think of it! And won't she dress, though. I'd vote for Hugh Mandeville, but they say he's engaged to Helen Smythe, and I can't endure her. She's around here some place trying to get the other girls to vote for Hugh."

"I call that cheeky. But I shan't vote for him. Margie Montague is my candidate. She's going to invite me to Washington if she's elected."

"How lovely that will be! I've half a mind to vote for Margie myself. Do you know, Belle Fielding and Libbie Lavelle have had an awful quarrel over the office of City Councilman?"

"No! How perfectly dreadful!"

"Isn't it? Libbie accused Belle of buying up votes with French bon-bons and boxes of kid gloves; and Belle told right out before everybody that eight of Libbie's upper teeth were false and that her lovely waves are not her own hair."

"How mean of Belle! If I was Libbie I'd never forgive her. I intended voting for Belle, but I shan't now. I cannot conscientiously vote for a girl who could deliberately give another girl away in that shameful manner. It's a mercy she didn't know all I know about Libbie, or the poor girl might have been mortified clear out of the campaign. I shall scratch Belle."

"I've scratched about everybody on my ticket."

"So have I. Most of the girls running for office are so horrid."

"So they are."

Tobacco in the White House.

Mr. Cleveland is developing a love for cigars which has already caught the attention of the newspaper paragrapher. There is something about life in the White House and in Washington which seems to stimulate the cacoethes fumandi, although Mr. Hayes was not affected by it. But he was proof against this and other "vanities." The taste grows cultured, too, in the White House atmosphere, and Mr. Cleveland is said to have discarded the "two for a quarter" variety for a much costlier article. Gen. Grant was able to gratify his love for the weed at little or no tax upon his $50,000 a year. So many of his friends were desirous of making him presents and his fondness for cigars was so universally known that the express companies were kept busy delivering him boxes of the choicest brands. I know of one gift to him of a box of 100 which cost the donor $175—so at least, the latter told me. I thought this was about the highest price ever paid for such goods, but the gentleman assured me that he had himself smoked cigars which had cost $1.75 apiece. He had done so accidentally, however, for it was far from his disposition to be so extravagant. The gift to Gen. Grant came about in this way. My informant, a merchant of means, was about to visit the General in camp during the closing days of the war and thought a box of fine cigars would be appreciated as a delicate courtesy. Accordingly, he called upon a cigar dealer near his residence and requested him to get the best box of cigars within reach. It was a time when gold was over 200, and the custom duties were very heavy. The package was duly delivered to him in a day or two and with it a bill for $175. Astonished at the price he went to the cigar dealer, who said that the bill was correct.—Brooklyn Citizen.

IT WON'T BAKE BREAD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affection caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

DUEL OF THE STORKS.

Bitter Combat Between Male Birds, Which Disposed of an Ancient Superstition.

[Pittsburgh Dispatch.]

The popular superstition, according to which storks, when deprived of their mates, are supposed to spend the remainder of their lives in solitary grief, mourning over the loss of their departed one, has just received a rude shock. According to the following account of which the truth is vouched for, it would appear that the female stork is just as liable to err from the path of virtue as the remainder of her sex. For several years past a couple of storks had been in the habit of spending the summer months in a comfortable nest, which they had laboriously constructed on the gable end of a barn which formed a part of a farm not far from Buda Pesth. They used to arrive in the early spring, hatch the regular number of eggs, and after spending the hot days of July and August in educating their young would all travel to warmer climes on the approach of winter. Last summer they arrived as usual, and after a time began to devote all their energies to hatching the eggs. When the hen bird was not setting her husband would gravely take her place, carefully spreading himself in such a manner as to cover all the unborn olive branches of the family. One day, however, just about at the time when the little ones were about to make their entry into the world, a great noise was heard on the roof of the barn. Looking upward the farmer perceived that a new male stork of unusual size and beauty had made his arrival and was engaged in a warm discussion with the couple established in the nest. Clapper, clapper, clapper went the long bills, feathers began to be ruffled, and at length, aroused by some terribly insulting expression on the part of the stranger, the male bird issued forth from his nest and began a pitched battle in defense of his honor and home. The duel lasted for a long time, and the battle waxed fast and furious. Curiously enough, the hen bird did not attempt to take the slightest part in the combat. She showed some evidences of excitement, occasionally stood up in her nest and made some remarks with her bill and wings in stork language, and then sat down again upon her eggs. When the sun went down the strange stork flew away, both of the combatants covered with blood. The hen bird received her lord and master with all the signs of a most exaggerated affection, and appeared to congratulate him on his gallant conduct. The next morning, however, the stranger reappeared and recommenced the battle of the day before. Thoroughly exasperated against the intruder, the farmer got out his gun, and, forgetful of the superstition which exists against killing a stork, fired at the strange bird. Sad to relate, instead of killing the latter, the husband stork fell lifeless to the ground. Curiously enough, the sound of the gun did not appear to create the least impression on the remaining birds. The hen stork did not make the slightest attempt to continue the trouble or to take to flight. She remained quietly setting in her nest, the stranger standing at some distance off. Gradually he began to edge along the ridge of the roof toward the nest, and when he got quite close thereto the hen likewise arose and stood upright. For more than an hour they remained standing next to one another engaged in the most eager discussion. At length they seemed to have come to an understanding. After a moment's pause they suddenly hopped into the nest, and working like very furies they united their efforts in throwing the whole of the eggs out of it on to the ground below. As soon as they had completed this work of destruction they both appeared to be slightly overcome, and for about ten minutes remained standing perfectly still each on one leg, their bills resting on each other's shoulders. At length they simultaneously flew up into the air, and after circling round a few times disappeared out of sight. It may be only a coincidence, but within a few weeks of the above flight not only the barn, but a large portion of the farm, was destroyed by fire, entailing a heavy loss on the proprietor.

He Wasn't Qualified.

"Did you hire that young man who applied for your school?" was asked of a Dakota school district officer.

"Well, I should rather say we didn't."

"Why not?"

"His eddication didn't come up to the scratch."

"What in?"

"Grammer."

"How did you find it out?"

"W'y he got in my wagon to ride from the field to the house an' said I, 'D' ye ever drive much?' 'Of late years,' says he, 'I have driven very little.' 'Drove very little, ye mean,' says I. 'I beg yer pardon,' says he, 'but I mean driven.' 'Drove is right,' says I. 'No, sir,' says he, 'driven is the most grammaticalest.' 'Oh, well, meddy ye know,' says I sorter sarcastic. 'I reckon I do,' says he, 'I'm jes' comin' out here to l'arn you folks something.' 'Do ye see that road?' says I. 'I does,' says he. 'Well,' says I, 'it goes to town an' you want to git right out an' hump yerself down it mighty fast, 'cause I'm goin' to be a kickin' ye in about a minute by the clock.' He saw I knowed more 'bout grammer than he did an' he got out. The wagon went on down the road. Yes, but we're goin' to have a teacher that understands grammer or none at all."—Dakota Bell.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

Fred Oetting, the South Calhoun street saloonkeeper, boarded a freight train at the south depot and thought to ride to the Broadway crossing last Sunday. He was not very successful in alighting, and executed a sommersault that would do honor to a professional. The Wabash is making extensive preparations for the safe and rapid transportation of passengers to and from the national encampment of the G. A. R., beginning at St. Louis September 27. They will receive payment in cash for the July coupon at 2½ per cent, semi annuity, and in addition authorize the commission to foreclose, if need be, accepting new bonds for the old, on the same terms and with the same lien.

M. J. W. Pearse found his horse and buckboard, the mysterious disappearance of which was noted yesterday. It seems that the Pearse horse, when driven by a drunken employe, ran into a horse and buggy belonging to a farmer south of the city. The country vehicle was broken up so the farmer coolly drove home in Mr. Pearse's rig and returned later in the day to find the owner.
